Times Welcomes Nasser Proposal on Gaza

LONDON, Thursday (INA). — The Times newspaper has welcomed Nasser's proposal for neutralization of either side of the Gaza Strip must be welcomed by everyone concerned with the stability of the area, according to an editorial yesterday.

Whatever the effect, the Egyptian Government's proposal to neutralize the Gaza Strip is a very good move, and the Egyptian Government has not succeeded in its aim to have the Gaza Strip neutralized. The editorial added that many Egyptians believe that at least as their country is not strong enough to defend Israel in a full-scale war, they could carry out local raids which "involve neither the danger of the present situation nor the cost of a full-scale war."

On the other hand, Israel knows that it cannot afford to wage a full-scale war in the face of Western commitments, so the present uneasy situation has resulted.

Meanwhile, diplomatic correspondence is making much of the Egyptian proposal, and the Egyptian Government is making much of the Egyptian proposal, and the Egyptian Government is making much of the Egyptian proposal.

The New York Daily News said today in a leading article that the Egyptian proposal to play along with the suggestion of Nasser that the Gaza Strip be neutralized, and the Egyptian Government is making much of the Egyptian proposal.

INTERVIEW WITH AN INSTRUCTOR

By Yehoshua Osh

THE problems of children from the kibbutzim are not new. The kibbutzim have been a part of the Jewish life in Israel since its inception. And the problems of these children are not new. They are the problems of children who are born into a new life, a life that is different from the life of their parents. They are the problems of children who are born into a new life, a life that is different from the life of their parents.

A year ago a kibbutz youth leader in Jerusalem, and perhaps the best, still in his 20s, was asked to give a lecture on the problems of the kibbutz youth. He was asked to give a lecture on the problems of the kibbutz youth. He was asked to give a lecture on the problems of the kibbutz youth.

Since nearly all kibbutz children today are from families that reside in Israel, parents of these children are not the same as the parents of the children who were born in the kibbutzim. They are not the same as the parents of the children who were born in the kibbutzim.

Another is the secondary role of the girl in the family. In the case of an 18-year-old girl who found it impossible to marry the man she loved without her 24-year-old brother's approval, the parents' opinion, there is no point in sending her out of the house, especially since she is an asset there. Hence, there is no point in sending her out of the house, especially since she is an asset there.

broader, that adults were a severe strain on both sides. An immediate problem was presented by the youngsters' dietary habits, born of tradition as well as of necessity. They would accept themselves on bread and jam, refuse to eat eggs and milk, or, in their anxiety to avoid themselves, of the suggested treasure trove of the new vegetable bowl, they would eat up the potatoes and the carrots, leaving the tomatoes and the cucumbers untouched.

It is impossible in any case, argues Nini, to confront the youngsters with a set of simple rules that will govern their eating habits. They must be taught to eat what they know at home. Hence, about not throwing out food, about saving for tomorrow, about not wasting food, they are taught at home.

the added foundation of federal loyalty which the kibbutz has. Many parents who refuse to have their children in the kibbutz are not doing so because they are against the kibbutz. They are doing so because they are against the kibbutz.

Another personality-building value which Nini seeks to instill is respect for human life. Let us take the case of a boy who has a bad temper. A man must not work hard for little money. And so Nini teaches his boys to respect human life.

VISITORS' GALLERY DESTINED for 5th AVENUE

MR. James A. Kallier arrived at Lido Airport a week ago. The strangest thing about him was the contents of his luggage. There were suits from Japan, and T-shirts, and your own design — and there was a lot of empty space for the same.

Mr. Kallier is a Vice-President of the American and Co., one of the largest department stores on New York's 5th Avenue. He was on his way to New York to look for new products.

Interested in seeing the craftsmen at work, Mr. Kallier traveled to some of the most important villages in Israel. He was on his way to New York to look for new products.

Conveying of all kinds, from original design and hand woven fabrics, could all be developed for the export market, he said. Mr. Kallier left the country with a large order of goods.

He took with him samples of all kinds which will be part of an exhibition at the American and Co. in New York. He was on his way to New York to look for new products.

The Secret to Refreshing Salads

By Melly Lyons Bar-Devid

SALAD should be the delight of a summer menu, and yet how often the finest vegetables are wasted in the kitchen. The secret to a refreshing salad is in the dressing. A man must not work hard for little money. And so Nini teaches his boys to respect human life.

Don't cut up your salad into a hash. Slice, dice or cube the various vegetables into nice sizes that need biting. Select vegetables that are in season. Your salad is one of soft vegetables like cucumber, tomato, and lettuce. You can add a crisp apple, a slice of orange, or a slice of lemon. You can add a slice of cucumber, a slice of tomato, or a slice of lettuce. You can add a slice of cucumber, a slice of tomato, or a slice of lettuce.

Herb Subtlety

Herbs add subtlety to all salads. Use dill, parsley, mint, fennel, and chives. You can add a slice of cucumber, a slice of tomato, or a slice of lettuce. You can add a slice of cucumber, a slice of tomato, or a slice of lettuce.

The American use apple in almost every salad. It is a crisp and juicy fruit that adds a refreshing touch to any salad. You can add a slice of cucumber, a slice of tomato, or a slice of lettuce. You can add a slice of cucumber, a slice of tomato, or a slice of lettuce.

PEACE hath her victories no less renowned than war, is a truth almost completely forgotten in these days when the most insistent and dangerous of all is the idea of peace.

It is making peace prostran-da when moves towards international reconciliation have become "peace offensives" as though the most sacred expression in the world is Jewish tradition is to be believed, has become almost a dirty word.

Yet the cynicism which the tensions of the last few generations have imposed upon our character, sometimes receives a salutary correction.

Such a healing blow was administered yesterday when on the front page of this paper, in a small box placed between headlines on the Gaza conflict, the sending of more

French troops to Algeria, and a Portuguese warning to India against attacks on Gao, came the news that the Yarkon Negev pipe-line had been completed and that the water would have its first trial flow on July 1.

This is a young country and one heavily laden with burden of defence as a result of the unrelenting hostility of a ring of seemingly irreconcilable neighbours. It is a country struggling against the task of absorbing and digesting a hundred per cent increase in population since it became a nation only seven years ago. It is a country which is marching steadily towards economic independence despite a lack of native resources of raw materials and in the face of a bitter Arab boycott which makes our central position in the Mediteranean almost a liability rather than an asset. Yet this young country has found it possible to spend some £40m.

on this pipe line project which will carry the Yarkon waters down to somewhere near the Gaza Strip.

The struggle for water is indeed the key to the struggle of this country for economic

The election of the Speaker is not a simple matter either. There are several candidates, and the election, though less highly

Speaker, is nevertheless a matter of considerable impor-

THIS WEEK...

Security Prime Minister Shervett told General R. L. M.

Burns, Chief of Staff of the United States

Organization, that full responsibility for tension in the Gaza border area rests with the Egyptians, but that Israel supported Gen. Burns' call for a high-level meeting between Israel and Egypt on the subject. Earlier, Mr. Shervett sent a message to the U.N. Secretary-General, in reply to a note from Mr. Hammarskjöld, stating that quiet on the border depended on Egypt.

Knesset The first reading of a Bill increasing pensions for disabled War of Liberation veterans was passed. Following a three-hour debate on the mystery bombing of the Hashemite weekly's printing plant, the House rejected motions for setting up an investigating committee into the matter.

LONDON, Thursday (INA).—The Times newspaper has welcomed the Egyptian proposal for a ceasefire in the Gaza Strip, which is being discussed with the Israeli Government. The paper's editorial, published yesterday, stated that the proposal was a "very good reason" for the Egyptian Government to open negotiations with the Israeli Government. The editorial also stated that the Egyptian Government's proposal was a "very good reason" for the Israeli Government to open negotiations with the Egyptian Government.

On the other hand, the Times also stated that the Egyptian Government's proposal was a "very good reason" for the Israeli Government to open negotiations with the Egyptian Government. The paper's editorial, published yesterday, stated that the proposal was a "very good reason" for the Egyptian Government to open negotiations with the Israeli Government. The editorial also stated that the Egyptian Government's proposal was a "very good reason" for the Israeli Government to open negotiations with the Egyptian Government.

Meanwhile, diplomatic correspondents are making much of the reported acceptance by Egypt of the UN proposal for a ceasefire in the Gaza Strip. The UN proposal, which was adopted by the Security Council on June 8, 1965, calls for a ceasefire in the Gaza Strip and for the withdrawal of Egyptian forces from the Strip. The UN proposal also calls for the establishment of a demilitarized zone in the Gaza Strip.

Executor of Einstein Estate Gets Passport

WASHINGTON, Thursday.—The State Department has issued a passport to Dr. Otto Nathan, executor of Albert Einstein's estate. The passport was issued after a long delay, as the State Department had been waiting for a decision from the Supreme Court on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus filed by Dr. Nathan. The passport will allow Dr. Nathan to travel to Europe to attend to the affairs of Einstein's estate.

The Supreme Court yesterday found that Dr. John Peters, a member of the German Communist Party, was not a "security risk" from his post as Government Counselor in Berlin. The court's decision was a victory for Dr. Peters, who had been denied a passport by the State Department on the grounds that he was a "security risk". The court's decision will allow Dr. Peters to travel to Europe to attend to the affairs of his estate.

In New York, the Court of Appeals yesterday decided on a motion by Mr. Cedric Belfrage, 30, British-born editor of the "Nation" magazine, for a review of the validity of an order calling for his deportation to England. Mr. Belfrage is now confined in the Federal House of Detention for release on bail.
